

Jujube. Zizyphus jujuba. Natural size.

An attractive looking large variety of jujube, of light mahogany-brown color, sold on the streets of Sianfu under the name Tsui tsao, which means "fragile jujube." This variety is eaten only when fresh; it is said not to be suited for drying or candying. Of medium sweet taste. Photographed in Sianfu, Shensi, China, August 30, 1914, by Frank N. Meyer. Photograph No. 13120.